Infertility Assessment - Part I

This comprehensive course explores the medical, physiological, and emotional dimensions of infertility, led by Dr. Melina Stasinou—an expert in reproductive medicine and functional gynecology. You'll gain a thorough understanding of both female and male factors affecting fertility, including ovulatory disorders, tubal damage, endometriosis, autoimmune diseases, varicocele, and hormonal imbalances. The course also discusses the impact of age, lifestyle, genetics, environmental exposures, and emotional stress on reproductive health. Designed for clinicians, health professionals, and students, it emphasizes early diagnosis, evidence-based treatment options, and integrative approaches to fertility care.
