

WESTERN AUSTRALIA SOUTH WEST: BUNBURY

KEMERTON STRATEGIC INDUSTRIAL AREA

Providing land for the processing of the natural resources in Western Australia's South West region.

The Kemerton Strategic Industrial Area (SIA) is designed for strategic and downstream processing industries in the South West region of Western Australia.

The SIA is connected to major road, power and gas networks and is just 17km north-east of the Bunbury Port.

Current proponents in the Kemerton SIA include:

- › Simcoa Operations - silicon production.
- › Cristal - titanium production.
- › BOC Gases - oxygen and nitrogen production.
- › Transfield Power Station.
- › Tesla Power Station.
- › Albemarle Lithium Refinery.

Kemerton is the largest Strategic Industrial Area in the South West. Comprising of 2,025ha of Industrial Land, 293ha Support Area and an Industry Buffer of 5,437ha.

An Environmental Strategic Assessment for the SIA is currently progressing.
