Projects

Behind the Glory

Ongoing Project | Various Locations

Photography

- A long-term documentary photography project capturing the lives of underrepresented populations in both major urban centers like Toronto, New York, and Miami, as well as smaller regions in countries such as the Dominican Republic and Puerto Rico.
- The project, ongoing for four to five years, explores the evolving landscapes and daily lives of these communities, offering a profound and evolving visual narrative over time.
- Through extensive travel and in-depth observation, the project highlights the contrast between bustling metropolises and the rich, vibrant cultures of smaller nations, creating a nuanced portrayal of humanity across diverse environments.

Chinatown Storytelling Plaques

2024 - 2025 | Chinatown, New York

Photography / Documentary Film

- Commissioned by Chinatown BID, this 10-episode documentary series captures the vibrant cultural and historical essence of New York's Chinatown.
- Served as the exclusive cinematographer and photographer, leading five months of filming that combined intimate interviews with residents and explorations of historic architecture.
- Integrated interactive QR codes placed at significant landmarks, transforming everyday locations into digital gateways to Chinatown's rich heritage. The project is anticipated to receive over 500,000 views due to high foot traffic and strategic placement.
- Featured across Chinatown's official social media platforms, significantly increasing visibility and engagement within the community. The project not only showcases the local culture but also strengthens the visibility of the Chinese community in the U.S., enabling a broader audience to learn about and appreciate the rich history and contributions of this group.

Lives on the Other Side

2025 | Various Locations in Mexico

Photography

- Independently conducted a multi-city documentary project across Mexico, working on location for an extended period. Traveled through Mexico City, Guanajuato, Guadalajara, León, and Tijuana, building a comprehensive visual study of everyday life in regions often defined by migration, labor, and border proximity.
- Photographed and produced a cohesive series using structured color, natural light, and observational framing. The project explores themes of displacement, economic precarity, childhood resilience, and the unspoken tension between aspiration and confinement.
- Ongoing development toward exhibition and publication
