NOTICE OF DATA EVENT

Allergic Disease Associates, P.C. dba The Asthma Center ("TAC") is providing notice of an event that involves information related to certain individuals. Although TAC is not aware of any identity theft or fraud in relation to the event, they are notifying individuals involved to provide them with information about what happened, the response, and additional measures they can take to help protect their information, should they feel it appropriate to do so.

In November 2025, TAC learned of suspicious activity related to its computer systems. In response, they quickly took steps to confirm the security of their network and began a thorough investigation to determine the nature and scope of the event. The investigation confirmed that an unauthorized actor gained access to a limited number of TAC systems between October 28, 2025 and November 17, 2025, and may have downloaded certain files. As a result, TAC undertook a comprehensive review of the files potentially involved to determine the information contained within and to whom it belonged.

While the information involved may vary by individual, the investigation and review identified that the event involved individuals' name and the following types of information: date of birth, health insurance member number, provider name, and medical information potentially including limited clinical information, diagnosis information, prescription information, and treatment information. Please note, TAC is not aware of any identity theft or fraud as a result of this event.

Information security is among TAC's highest priorities, and they take this event very seriously. TAC's response included ensuring the security of their systems, completing an investigation, and undertaking a review to determine what information may be involved. TAC is reviewing existing security policies and is continuously evaluating their security posture to protect against similar events moving forward.

TAC encourages all individuals to remain vigilant against incidents of identity theft and fraud by reviewing their account statements, explanation of benefits forms, and monitoring their free credit reports for suspicious activity and to detect errors. Under U.S. law, a consumer is entitled to one (1) free credit report annually from each of the three (3) major credit reporting bureaus, Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion. To order a free credit report, visit http://www.annualcreditreport.com or call, toll-free, 1 (877) 322-8228. Consumers may also directly contact the three (3) major credit reporting bureaus listed below to request a free copy of their credit report.

Consumers have the right to place an initial or extended "fraud alert" on a credit file at no cost. An initial fraud alert is a one (1) year alert that is placed on a consumer's credit file. Upon seeing a fraud alert display on a consumer's credit file, a business is required to take steps to verify the consumer's identity before extending new credit. If consumers are the victim of identity theft, they are entitled to an extended fraud alert, which is a fraud alert lasting seven (7) years. Should consumers wish to place a fraud alert, please contact any of the three (3) major credit reporting bureaus listed below.

As an alternative to a fraud alert, consumers have the right to place a "credit freeze" on a credit report, which will prohibit a credit bureau from releasing information in the credit report without the consumer's express authorization. The credit freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in a consumer's name without consent. However, consumers should be aware that using a credit freeze to take control over who gets access to the personal and financial information in their credit report may delay, interfere with, or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application they make regarding a new loan, credit, mortgage, or any other account involving the extension of credit. Pursuant to federal law, consumers cannot be charged to place or lift a credit freeze on their credit report. To request a credit freeze, individuals may need to provide some or all the following information:

1. Full name (including middle initial as well as Jr., Sr., II, III, etc.);
2. Social Security number;
3. Date of birth;
4. Addresses for the prior two (2) to five (5) years;
5. Proof of current address, such as a current utility bill or telephone bill;
6. A legible photocopy of a government-issued identification card (state driver's license or ID card, etc.); and
7. A copy of either the police report, investigative report, or complaint to a law enforcement agency concerning identity theft if they are a victim of identity theft.

Should consumers wish to place a credit freeze or fraud alert, please contact the three (3) major credit reporting bureaus listed below:
