

Episode 325 Synopsis:

This week on Hiring America, we begin a series following entrepreneurs who are combining innovation with their military experience to try and change the world. Journey to the Muster will introduce you to three creative business minds as they work to make their dreams a reality.