

Golfing the World is the premiere golf and travel broadcast syndication series and has featured more than 150 public, municipal, and private courses. This year, we are pleased to announce our 29th broadcast season and 255th episode as we continue to search the planet to discover the best of the golf travel experience.

This year the series will travel to Portugal, Ireland, Bermuda and the Dominican Republic just to name a few courses around the world and introduce you to the sport we all love to play!

Golfing the World highlights everything a course has to offer - history, design, general layout, clubhouse, dining, amenities, and membership opportunities.

Golfing the World is produced by BCN Productions. For more info check out - www.golfingtheworld.tv
