Short Description of Organization

The American Chemistry Council is a national trade association based in Washington DC with Regional Offices throughout the Country. Our mission is to advocate for the people, policy and products of chemistry that make the United States the global leader in innovation and manufacturing.

Short Bio

Margaret Gorman, Senior Director, Northeast Region, American Chemistry Council is responsible for developing and implementing ACC's lobbying and government affairs efforts in 8 Northeastern states; advocating policy before legislative bodies and regulatory agencies; developing the industry's legislative and political grassroots programs and running statewide campaigns on issues impacting the industry throughout the Region. She has led ACC advocacy efforts on a number of state legislative and regulatory issues in the Northeast including product deselection and plastics issues. Margaret has over 25 years combined Legislative and Government Affairs experience. She started her career working in both the New York State Senate and Assembly, previously worked for a health care association in New York and has been with ACC working on multistate issues for over 13 years.

Hot Issues

Plastics issues including Extended Producer Responsibility, Single Use Plastics Bans and Restrictions on Advanced Recycling Technologies. Individual chemistry bans are always a hot issue notably PFAS related bills over the past few years.
