In respect of securities where no market value is available, the management company makes a discretionary valuation based on objective and consistent grounds. The net asset value per unit is not calculated where markets, in which a significant part of the Fund's portfolios are invested, are closed.

Holberg has established procedures for swing pricing in order to prevent losses for existing unit holders due to subscriptions and redemptions made by other unit holders of the Fund. The NAV is adjusted by a swing factor on days when the Fund has had net subscriptions or redemptions in excess of a predetermined proportion of the fund's total assets. The threshold for adjustment of the NAV is set at the level at which net subscriptions or redemptions are expected to result in the Fund having to make adjustments to the portfolio incurring transactions costs. If the Fund has had net subscriptions above this threshold, NAV is adjusted up. If the fund has had net redemptions above this threshold, NAV is adjusted down. The swing factor is based on average historical costs, and is evaluated regularly. The procedures are set up according to the industry standard set by the Norwegian Mutual Fund Association for subscription and redemption. Read more about the industry standard for subscription and redemption of fund units on www.vff.no.

The EU Taxonomy is a classification system laid down in Regulation (EU) 2020/852, establishing a list of environmentally sustainable economic activities. That Regulation does not lay down a list of socially sustainable economic activities. Sustainable investments with an environmental objective might be aligned with the Taxonomy or not.

What environmental and/or social characteristics are promoted by this financial product?

Sustainability is integrated into the fund's investment process where we try to understand whether companies are run in line with common environmental, ethical and social norms. The fund promotes a wide range of environmental and social characteristics through the integration of Holberg's proprietary ESG model, exclusion lists, and active ownership.

We seek to promote sustainability through documentation of our investment decisions. With concentrated portfolios we are able to assess each company and its management's approach to long-term sustainable development. Access to reliable data can be deficient, and the perception of sustainability and which ESG criteria each company meet varies.

Holberg wishes to contribute to building knowledge by being an active participant in the debate about how sustainability can improve risk assessments and investment decisions. This will be executed through internal activities (meetings with clients, seminars, etc.), as well as participation and contribution in external forums. Also, we will seek to highlight the topic through our communication with clients and presence in the media.

Sustainability indicators measure how the environmental or social characteristics promoted by the financial product are attained.

Principal adverse impacts are the most significant negative impacts of investment decisions on sustainability factors relating to environmental, social and employee matters, respect for human rights, anti-corruption and anti-bribery matters.

● What sustainability indicators are used to measure the attainment of each of the environmental or social characteristics promoted by this financial product?

In order to measure the attainment of each of the environmental or social characteristics promoted by the fund, we use sustainability indicators defined in our proprietary sustainability model, Tellus. For each sustainability indicator we score each portfolio company from 1 to 5. These scores can also be aggregated on fund level.

The following sustainability indicators are used to measure the attainment of the environmental characteristics promoted by this fund:

- What are the binding elements of the investment strategy used to select the investments to attain each of the environmental or social characteristics promoted by this financial product?

The binding elements of the investment strategy used to select the investments to attain each of the environmental or social characteristics promoted by the fund are:

1. Holberg's proprietary ESG model, Tellus
2. Exclusion lists and monitoring
3. Active ownership

Holberg has developed the Tellus model, which is our proprietary analysis tool for ESG and sustainability and contains common quality requirements for the portfolio companies. This integration gives us a broader understanding of the companies and potential risks. A sustainability related event may affect one single company directly or may have a wider impact on an industry, geographic area, or country, which can affect bigger parts of the portfolio. Integrating sustainability risks into the portfolio construction contributes to create the desired risk adjusted return. Tellus is our fact-based method for systematizing sustainability risks and analyses, and it is an efficient tool to monitor each investment over time.

We also apply a set of exclusions to the portfolio, which is based on the Government Pension Fund Global's guidelines. In addition to this, we have chosen to exclude gambling and pornography from our investment universe. We want our portfolio companies to operate in line with international norms, including UN Global Compact. Holberg's equity funds are screened by Sustainalytics' online database «Global Standard Screening» monthly.

We practice active ownership to encourage the companies to improve. As an active fund manager with concentrated portfolios, we have an investment philosophy that is founded on close follow-up of the companies we are invested in. We have dialogs with the company management and vote on general meetings to contribute to transparency for the shareholders. Holberg's voting guidelines and an overview of what we have voted for or against on general meetings is available on our webpage.
