

Use case

Helping finance teams perform at their best

An effective finance team is key to the success of any organisation. But to make informed financial decisions and maximise efficiency, finance teams need the right tools and talent. From payroll and purchasing to financial planning and accounting, the employees responsible for these processes rely on an increasing number of digital solutions.

Working with Computacenter, an Apple Premium Business Partner, organisations can empower their finance teams with the devices that enable employees secure, reliable access to digital systems, ensuring finance teams can stay productive and responsive at all times.

Persona priorities

Finance teams need talented employees and reliable digital systems to ensure the financial health of the organisation. To attract and retain skilled workers, it helps to offer a modern working environment, including powerful devices that enable employees to work securely from any location, with reliable, always-on access to critical financial systems, paired with seamless IT support services.

The solution

Computacenter deliver workplace solutions to help boost efficiency and satisfaction within finance teams. We work with organisations to offer their finance employees the option of working on a Mac, which can appeal to potential new team members and make existing finance employees feel empowered and valued, with secure, reliable and always-available access to the systems they depend on.

Apple devices provide a robust and secure platform for employees across all finance positions, from payroll executives and credit controllers to accountants and the CFO. Whether they're based in the office, at home or work in a hybrid manner, Apple devices offer the reliable connectivity and performance they need.

With the right Mac, iPad, iPhone and Computacenter services, finance teams can enhance productivity, employee satisfaction and decision-making.

To help organisations maximise their investment in Apple devices, Computacenter offers a range of services, including:

- Mac Pilot: We help tailor deployment strategies and ensure optimal user experiences with pilots of Mac devices.
- Workstyle Analysis: Computacenter matches individuals with their ideal device, based on their role within the finance team and their workstyle.
- Device-as-a-Service: We manage the entire device lifecycle, including sourcing, deployment, management, and retirement to increase efficiency for IT teams.
- Managed Mac Service: With a combination of help desks, tech bars, self-service capabilities and onsite resources, we ensure every Mac user has the support they need to stay productive.
