Tommy Setiadi

I am a Low-Code Web Developer with expertise in platforms like Webflow. My knowledge of HTML and CSS is sufficient to create customized websites. My academic background includes a bachelor's degree in Communication and Brand Management, complemented by a diploma in Graphic Design. Currently, I am dedicating my creative and technical skills to mastering low-code/no-code tools, such as Memberstack, Zapier, and more, to excel in developing a dynamic website and web application integration.

My passion is centered around designing visually stunning and functional websites based on user research. I seamlessly blend design aesthetics with user-friendly interfaces. I consistently stay updated on the latest web development trends, allowing me to deliver innovative and effective solutions for every project.
