2025

The Bibliography of Arab and MENA American Studies, a collaboration between the Arab American National Museum (AANM) and the Center for Arab Narratives (CAN), is a guide for researchers who wish to keep up with the latest publications and research trends pertaining to Arab and MENA communities in the United States. The bibliography features published works – including peer-reviewed scholarly articles, books, book chapters, and dissertations – in the fields of history, social sciences, public health, literature, and the arts. Every six months, a list of the latest research from the current year will be published on CAN's website.
