PROJECT PARTNERS

We are excited to bring you the latest on our work in progress as we near completion in June. It's been an amazing journey, and we're delighted that all the work is now complete. The purpose of this issue is to recap some of the major accomplishments and memorable moments that our work has generated so far.

First, let us highlight some of the outstanding activities that made our work easier. During the festive season, our team ran heart-warming programs such as making Christmas and New Year holiday cards. These letters were filled with love and warmth, bringing joy to countless individuals in need. Additionally, our business engaged with the art world by hosting inspiring art galleries with incredible work from talented students and young people from our esteemed partner institutions. These exhibits celebrated creativity and gave young artists a platform to shine.

Another notable feature was the series of cycling events held in each partner country. These fun activities promoted physical fitness and environmental awareness, encouraging participants to explore their surroundings while providing a sense of camaraderie and community. Together we took a step towards a greener future!

In other news, leaders of the project recently gathered in Oslo, Norway for our final transnational meeting. During our time together, we had the opportunity to visit the esteemed Climate House, where we deepened our understanding of effective climate change communication with young people. Insights from this visit will undoubtedly inform our future efforts to better motivate and engage the next generation in combating climate change.

We are also excited to share the success of our last training in Yenice, Türkiye. This transformational event brought together 23 passionate young people united in the common goal of sustainability. The training included various enrichment sessions including sessions on recycling and the importance of waste management. Participants engaged in garbage collection during a walk in the surrounding nature, actively contributing to the preservation of our natural environment. The training also included an exciting woodworking workshop using recycled materials, to promote the importance of recycling and creative sustainability solutions. Our attendees gained valuable insights through workshops on climate adaptation and the opportunity to design and build their own Erasmus+ projects. The training not only expanded their knowledge but also empowered them to become agents of change in their communities.

As we approach the final phase of our project, we want to express our sincerest gratitude to all participants, volunteers, and supporters who have contributed to its success. Your dedication and enthusiasm have been instrumental in making this journey a memorable one. We look forward to sharing the final outcomes of our project with you in the coming weeks. Stay tuned for updates on our website and social media platforms!
