

The Niemeyer II armchair is named after the Brazilian architect Oscar Niemeyer, whose architecture was spread like sculptural poetry in the history of humankind. The rounded lines of the armchair are influenced by the remarkable 'Casa das Canoas' designed by Niemeyer in 1951. The flat roof offers its flowing forms to the round seat, and the backward movement of the curve that frames a large granite boulder is recreated by the location of the seams in a meticulous upholstered work that flows all around the arms.
