DESCRIPTION

The Albeo series consists of small lounge tables, each like a unique piece of jewelry in a room. Traditional craftsmanship coupled with a modern appeal bears the typical hallmark of the designer. Each piece is an abstracted wooden stump with a surface of cross-grained wood, replicated from a wooden board at least 100 years old, moulded and cast in metal. Various surface treatments of the cast result in an interesting contrast of materials and colour. Metal is a naturally porous material, so variations and imperfections are part of the character of each piece, making every table unique.
