

Yale University: School of Medicine: Orthopaedics and Rehabilitation

Location

Greenwich, CT

Description

Yale Orthopaedics & Rehabilitation is committed to delivering exceptional quality and value-driven patient care by fostering a culture of respect and well-being, pursuing innovations and diversity across clinical, research, and educational settings, and supporting our local and global communities.

Thanks to medical and technological advances, such as 3D surgical planning, minimally invasive procedures, patient-specific implants, tissue engineering, and others developed here at Yale, our specialists can accelerate an individual's ability to return to a healthy and active lifestyle.

From simple to complex, infancy through adulthood, traumatic fractures, dislocations, congenital differences, arthritic joints, chronic musculoskeletal pain, and sports injuries, our team of surgeons combine state-of-the-art techniques with innovative studies to maximize patient outcomes.

Join our growing faculty. The Department of Orthopaedics & Rehabilitation seeks an Orthopaedic Arthroplasty surgeon for a full-time faculty position with interest and expertise in Orthopaedic Adult Reconstruction. This position will have an expectation of clinical service commitment at Yale New Haven Health, Greenwich Hospital.

Responsibilities will include clinical service, with the possibility of teaching, and research activities depending on the wishes and skill set of the candidate. Physicians with a sole focus on clinical care are welcome to apply.

Qualifications

Applicants must be board-certified or board-eligible Orthopaedic surgeons with fellowship training in Arthroplasty/Adult Reconstruction.

Academic appointment will be commensurate with experience and qualifications.

Application Instructions

Interested candidates should apply via: <http://apply.interfolio.com/158434>

Our department anticipates that the successful candidate will have a dynamic personality, outstanding communication and interpersonal skills, and a demonstrated commitment to diversity, equity and inclusion, as well as academic collaboration.

Review of applications will continue until the position is filled.
