BESPOKE SHADING FOR A LUXURY
WESTMINSTER RESIDENCE

Lutron-operated roller blinds, roman blinds, and curtain poles.

This exceptional Westminster residence presented a shading commission of the highest order, conceived and delivered in close collaboration with interior designer Zina Adib. Set within one of London's most coveted addresses, the property required a solution that would honour both the architecture and the interior vision.

Grants Blinds designed, specified and supplied Lutron motorised roller blinds and Roman blinds throughout, sourcing and installing curtains and specialist Lutron motorised metal curtain poles to complete the scheme.

“

THEY’VE GOT THE EXPERIENCE.
I’VE GOT THE VISION, SO IT
WAS A GREAT COMBINATION.

ENSUITE

In the opulent ensuite, a sheer roller blind diffuses the light softly. A motorised Roman blind descends cleanly to provide full privacy when required.

TV ROOM

Warm tones and a carefully considered quality of light give the TV room a refined character. A sheer roller blind and a motorised Roman blind work in complement, providing complete control of light and privacy.

THE ART OF EFFORTLESS LIGHT

Curtains glide along recessed Lutron tracks or motorised bronze poles, each movement quiet and precise. All managed through a single system, it puts complete control of light and privacy exactly where it should be.

KITCHEN AREA

A Lutron motorised recessed track sits flush within the kitchen architecture, allowing unlined sheer curtains in a double pinch pleat glide with effortless, seamless grace.

LIVINGROOM

The living room breathes through sheer roller blinds and full curtains dressed on motorised bronze poles, lending a quiet sophistication that keeps the space light and welcoming.

FROM CHALLENGE TO COMPLETION

When a project begins from scratch, the possibilities are open from the outset. At Westminster, Grants arrived with the spaces already defined. The challenge was not to plan freely, but to find the best possible solution within what was already there. These sketches and marked-up site photos reflect how each blind was planned to sit within the architecture.

Concealment depths, clearances, and fixing positions were all considered at this stage, so the final installation could speak for itself.

From the first conversation, it was clear this project needed to be considered at drawing stage, not after construction. Our role was to help translate the design intent into something that could be built, installed, and lived with every day

A SHARED VISION, DELIVERED

When the right expertise meets the right creative vision, the result speaks for itself. Sebastian Rowland and interior designer Zina Adib reflect on what made this collaboration at Westminster truly exceptional.

It was quite a, quite a difficult brief because we wanted to achieve top and high quality, and I've worked with grants before and I was very pleased with the service. They've got the experience. I've got the vision, so it was a great combination.
