The Folsom Street Park proposal studied the feasibility and developed a community vision for transforming a third of an acre of underutilized public land in the City Terrace neighborhood of unincorporated Los Angeles County.

The public right-of-way is a paper street that was never developed due to the steep sloping conditions. The project focused on establishing connectivity between Gage and Herbert Avenues, addressing neighborhood safety concerns, nuisance dumping, and developing much needed natural and park space for this park poor community. The feasibility study and community community led design were completed through 2024, with the County of Los Angeles Parks and Recreation Department pursuing funding for final design and construction.
