Designer and multidisciplinary visual artist with 7+ years of experience across brand, digital design, and visual storytelling. Currently working as an independent contractor, including previous long-term design partnership with SaaS companies and various agencies, alongside an independent artistic practice spanning photography, film, independent publishing, and writing.

Particularly interested in projects at the intersection of art, culture, identity, and environmental themes. Brings this perspective to work across SaaS, digital products, and technology-led teams, and is comfortable working autonomously on retainer-based collaborations and within cross-functional environments.
