Maximising Safety • Minimising Harm

A weekend retreat and workshop for those experiencing the symptoms of electromagnetic-hypersensitivity.

In this restful, rural setting, free of wireless frequencies, we have the opportunity to:

- Share our personal stories - the confusion and challenges that come with this condition
- Discover healing practices and protection strategies with physicians, health researchers, and EMF tech specialists
- Form support groups that advocate for medical and civic recognition
- Nurture yourself with good company, vibrant food, and deep rest in coastal bush among gentle horses

There is comfortable, rustic accommodation for 12 participants, plus space for campervans and tents, with the option of staying on another day for healing sessions or a private retreat.
