Are there any requirements to share as an Affiliate?

You can share as frequently or as light as you'd like. Daily Drop Pro is an evergreen product, meaning the cart is always open. So your links won't expire! What we will say though, is creators who plan at least one share a month and prioritize our yearly sales (which we keep you up to date with), see the highest return.

How are my sales tracked?

When you are approved as an affiliate, you'll receive a unique link that is cooked directly to you for 30 days. Our affiliate cookies operate under "last click," which means if you are the last affiliate link clicked, it's your affiliate sale (even if they click your link and then one of our ads within the 30 day window – still yours!).

What if there's a sale going on?

You receive a flat, one time commission of 50% of the unit sold. So if there's a sale going on, you will receive your 50% commission on the sale price.

When do I get paid?

Payouts are on the first of the month on payments generated the month prior on customers who have moved through their 30 day refund period.

What happens if there's a refund?

Refunds will be subtracted from payouts prior to receiving your monthly payout.

Where is Daily Drop Pro available?

At this time our cash deals are only available for airports in the US and Canada. Miles and points deals can be searched globally.

How is Daily Drop different from other flight deal programs?

We differentiate ourselves from other services by including a whole trip planning tool. We offer cash deals and points deals on flight and hotels. Our team personally reviews hundreds of deals and requests every single day to support Pro members.

Pro also provides more granular controls of your travel availability throughout the year, allowing you to select regions you'd like to travel to and allowing you to set maximum prices for the airfares you'd like to receive.

Additionally, we are proud of the human support we offer. We're not just a software, we have real humans who are travel experts ready to help support where you're feeling stuck.
