

AL13 POOL TABLE

LUCA NICHETTO

In the periodic table of elements, Al and 13 represent the symbol and atomic number of aluminum, the material at the core of AL13, NICHETTO® – Luca Nichetto's studio's first foray into the world of game tables.

Conceived as a balance between heritage and vision. Where Italian tradition meets Barcelona's creative pulse.

Born from experimentation with materials. From the exploration of proportion. Guided by intuition before leading to that sublime moment when everything aligns. When obsession, precision, iteration, and mastery rise into a piece that feels inevitable. AL13 emerges as a sculptural, uninterrupted form defined by soft, flowing curves suspended on monolithic twin legs.

It does not break with classicism but reinterprets it. Silent engineering, premium materials, and monumental form meet, creating a powerful and elegant presence that elevates billiards into a work of art, where every game becomes a ritual.

THE DESIGNER

Luca Nichetto was born in Venice, Italy, and grew up surrounded by a deep-rooted culture of craftsmanship, where tradition, material, and detail shaped his early understanding of design. After collaborating with some of the most renowned Italian brands, in 2006 he founded Nichetto Studio, establishing a practice defined by the balance between industrial precision and poetic expression.

His work soon expanded beyond Italy, developing a strong connection with Stockholm and Scandinavian design culture, refining his language through collaborations with leading brands such as Fritz Hansen, &Tradition, and Normann Copenhagen.

He has worked with some of Italy's most prestigious companies, including Cassina, B&B Italia, Moroso and Foscarini, as well as international names like Hermès, Georg Jensen. Today, his work exists at the intersection of design, art, and industry, always guided by a profound respect for material, process, and form.
