Therra Side Table

The side table Therra, part of the eponymous collection consisting of a console, coffee table, and side table, interprets stone as a living and creative material. The grooved base interacts with the polished top, creating a contrasting texture that highlights the marble’s natural veining. Simple in proportion yet rich in character, the table fits harmoniously into any setting, transforming stone into an architectural detail capable of lending rhythm and personality to the space. Available in various types of marble and in polished, brushed, and honed finishes, the Therra Side Table combines functionality and aesthetic quality in a refined and contemporary object.
