Spica Dining Chair

The Spica chair is born from the encounter between wood and the natural colour of woven straw, reinterpreting a local textile tradition in a contemporary way. Produced in Tolentino, in the Marche region – home to all of Secolo’s production – the chair engages with the Italian region’s artisanal heritage, blending tradition and innovation. The essential structure frames the weave, where the choice of natural wood or lacquered finish, one of the brand’s distinctive features, introduces a contemporary language that enhances traditional craftsmanship. This balance between tradition and innovation gives the object a sculptural yet familiar character, warm and welcoming.
