Hera X Console

Hera X Console is defined by a soft and intimate language, in which the continuity of the curves constructs a measured and quietly evocative presence. The compact and calibrated volumes convey a sense of formal intimacy, translating the object into a synthesis between welcome and compositional rigor. The organic morphology, crossed by a barely perceptible dynamic tension, establishes a subtle dialogue between essentiality and proportion. The addition of a marble top, combined with the lacquered finish of the structure, intervenes as an element of contrast and material definition: a relationship between surfaces that amplifies the tactile and visual perception of the piece, giving shape to a sophisticated dialogue between discretion and expressiveness.
