SALESHEET

GIOPATO & COOMBES

Nokori unfolds as a delicate choreography of balance and distance, of scale and stillness, leaving behind a resonance that lingers beyond the encounter. Each form exists as a quiet presence — suspended between geometric precision and organic fluidity — while layered glass surfaces hold depth like a memory.

Light does not illuminate the work from outside; it dwells within it, tracing silent contours and breathing through the material itself.

Nokori's volumes hold air and light, releasing it transformed. Each silhouette carries its own rhythm — soft envelopes that define the space around them rather than simply filling it, shifting with the hour and the movement of whoever passes through.

Murano glass with geometrically textured surfaces and a full, crystalline finish — depth over mere brilliance. The metal bases complete each piece: some squared and avant-garde, others organic and fluid. It is in this dialogue between materials that the personality of each lamp is decided.
