Good morning,

Further to my previous email, I would be grateful if you could complete the attached voting form before 6 January, as one of the few creditors in the liquidation.

Your assistance is greatly appreciated.

Kind regards,
Lucy

Good Morning,

We confirm receipt of your communication in relation to our customer Ldm Aircraft Services Ltd (the Company).

We note that the Company entered into an insolvency event.

We inform you that the Company entered into a Bounce Back Loan Agreement with Starling Bank on 09/11/2020 for £37,500.00, (the BBLs Agreement). A default and formal repayment demand notice in respect of the BBLs Agreement was sent to the Company on 25/08/2022 (the Default Notice).

On the date prior to the Liquidation Date, the Company had £1.00 in its Business Current Account with Starling. These funds will be set off against the Starling Bounce Back Loan Agreement following issuance of the formal repayment demand notice in accordance with the rules relating to insolvency set off.

Please find attached the Company's bank statements from the account opening, the Bounce Back Loan documents and our proof of debt to confirm the amount outstanding.

Further, as per your letter;

- The statements attached should provide the required information surrounding Standing orders, Direct debits, Balances & Interest charges. However, if you require further information surrounding this then please let us know.
- There are no securities or guarantees held, nor have there been at any given time.
- There are no contingent liabilities.
- We are not currently aware of any accounts that this company may hold with other banks.
- We have not received any notice from a third party.
- Starling Bank does not issue cheques or credit cards at this time.

As the Bounce Back Loan application is completed online, we do not have a downloadable copy of the full application to provide. However, we can confirm the details that were entered.

The application was made on 05/11/2020, at this time the director was able to self certify their annual turnover to be £150,000.00, to receive a BBL of £37,500.00.

We can provide copies of the BBL agreement and BBL application summary, which should provide you with all other relevant details.
