

Going to an Advocacy WA Workshop

Sometimes I may go to an Advocacy WA
workshop.

A workshop is where people come together to learn about things

Sometimes we can learn about, my rights or how to tell someone if I dont like something

People who go may be people with
disability, family
members, or support
workers.

When I arrive, I might see tables, chairs, information sheets, and Advocacy WA team members.

Sometimes there is tea, coffee, or morning tea
available for people attending

During the workshop,
presenters share
information about
disability rights,
supports, and services.

Sometimes people
with lived experience
share their own stories and experiences.

People at the workshop can listen, ask questions and take notes.

Many people find it helpful to attend workshops where information is shared

Going to an Advocacy WA workshop is one way I can learn more about rights, supports, and advocacy.

I can listen, ask questions, or speak with people after the session.

If I need help the Advocacy WA team
can help me

08 9721 6444

www.advocacywa.org.au

admin@advocacywa.org.au

4 Plaza Street, Bunbury WA

SCAN
ME!

