SOURCING

We know that sourcing the right suppliers can make or break your event. That's why we take the process very seriously. Here is how we will help you source the perfect program:

- Our internal account team has dozens of years of combined experience and has performed thousands of events. We tap into this network for recommendations of our favorite local, national, and global suppliers to ensure that your event is in the best possible hands.
- We are constantly attending industry shows and network events, scouring the web, and receiving referrals to find vendors that meet our impeccable FUSION standards. We thoroughly vet each supplier for quality and reliability.
- Then, based on your vision and requirements, our team sources and evaluates potential venues to meet your needs.
- After managing the initial supplier and venue outreach, we navigate the various engagement processes to get the ball rolling on your behalf, obtaining pricing, availability, minimums, concessions, and more.
- Once our team carefully reviews each supplier proposal, we will extract all the important details to provide you with an executive summary that meets your budget requirements, including our recommendations, to make your decision-making easy.

RECONCILIATION

We know that the reconciliation process can be a bit overwhelming, especially after an exciting event. But no worries, we are here to help! By taking these steps, we can help you easily navigate the reconciliation process, promoting transparency and accountability. We want to ensure that your event is not only successful but that you feel confident in your financial statements.

- First, we request the most recent profit and loss report and original contract budget for the program so we can get a clear understanding of the event's financials
- Then, we go through the expenses with a fine-tooth comb to verify that there are no missing expenses and to determine any variances between the final program cost and the total charged to you
- Once we confirm the payment status of the invoice and determine if any amount is owed to us or if a credit memo is to be issued to you, you'll know where you stand financially.
- We'll review the reconciliation to ensure that the final reconciliation numbers match, providing you with peace of mind about the accuracy of your financial statements.
- Finally, we'll sit down with you and review the reconciliation together. We want to make sure you have a clear understanding of the event's financials and answer any questions you may have.

Customized Solutions.

We infuse best-in-class tools into each stage of the lifecycle to maximize every aspect of your event.
