Frequently Asked Questions

How does the guest invitation process work?

Gala sponsors invite credit union guests to join them at this exclusive networking event. This means that sponsors should allocate a majority of the seats that come with their sponsorship to credit union Executives to ensure that there are a significant number of credit union CEOs and C-suite executives at the event for networking.

You may invite any credit union executives of your choosing. We have had attendees from all over the country attend A Capital Affair.

How do I know how many credit union CEO/Executives to invite?

We are recommending the following:

- If you have a table of ten, please allocate 8 seats for CU Executives and 2 seats for Sponsor guests
- If you have 6 seats, please allocate 4 seats for CU Executives and 2 seats for Sponsor guests
- If you have 4 seats, please allocate 3 seats for CU Executives and 1 seat for a Sponsor guest

What if I don't know who to invite?

We maintain a list of past attendees or executives who would like to attend but haven't been invited yet. We are always happy to help facilitate introductions to credit union execs or pair you with execs who are looking for seats. If you would like assistance in identifying or contacting CU Execs to invite, please reach out to Leigh Philibosian for guidance.
