

Meet the team

Mazzei

As Melbourne's leading luxury home builder, the Mazzei team has been crafting exceptional, award-winning residences for decades. In collaboration with Webster Architecture & Interiors (WAI), we believe the success of every home begins with the decisions made in the design phase. Our experience has shown that thoughtful, well-executed design delivers extraordinary results — yet it is often undervalued. That's why design sits at the very heart of what we do.

From the outset, we work with you in partnership with WAI, ensuring your architect and builder are aligned from day one. Together, we keep your vision, design, and budget in perfect balance.

We are passionately design-driven — convinced that considered, appropriate, and inspiring architecture is the foundation of every great home. Equally, we are committed to making the home-building journey an experience our clients find not only seamless, but genuinely enjoyable and inspiring.

Webster Architecture & Interiors

Webster Architecture & Interiors (WAI) is a Melbourne-based architecture and interiors practice founded by Dan Webster in 2014. The team approaches every project as unique — in style, site, context, and most importantly, the client. Their process is flexible, adaptable, and tailored to meet the specific needs of each project.

There is a strong sense of purpose in WAI's architecture, with a considered and layered approach to interiors. Every design is thoughtfully crafted to achieve the perfect balance between form and function, creating homes that are both beautiful and highly liveable.

From the very beginning, WAI works in close partnership with clients. The architect and builder collaborate throughout the project to ensure that vision, design, and budget are always aligned. Passionate about design, the team believes that considered, inspiring architecture is at the heart of every great home. Equally, WAI is committed to making the homebuilding journey seamless, enjoyable, and truly inspiring for clients.

Bold & Dramatic

Nestled on Highfield Road, Highfield is the result of a thoughtful partnership with Dan Webster of Webster Architecture & Interiors and Nathan Burkett of Nathan Burkett Landscape Architecture. This collaboration brings together the very best in architectural innovation, landscape design, and building expertise to create a home where every detail is considered.

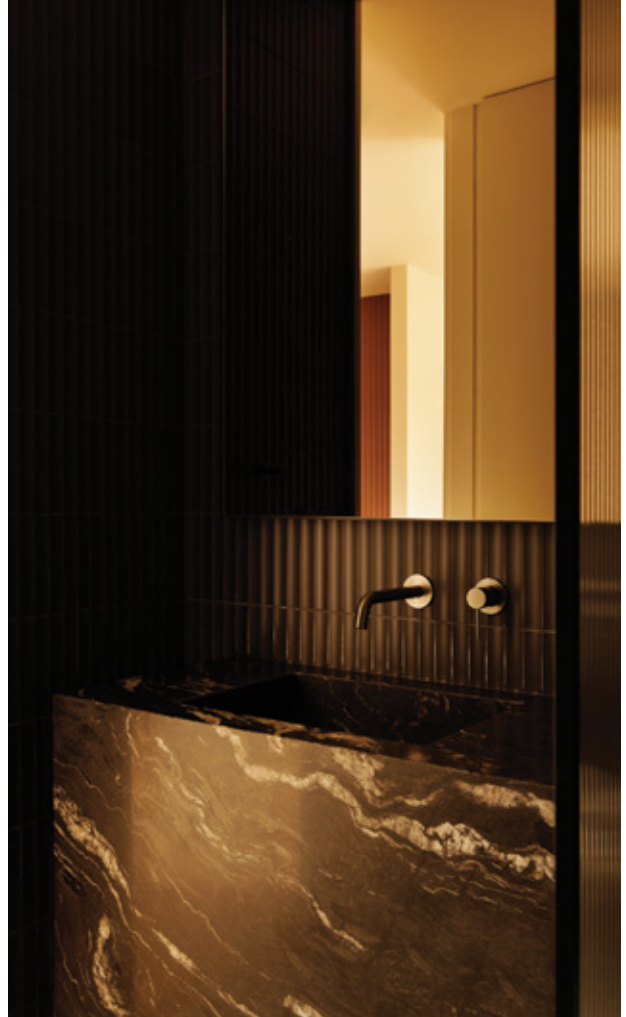

Designed for modern family living, this single-level residence offers four bedrooms, each with its own ensuite, a butler's kitchen complementing the main culinary space, generous built-in storage, and a dedicated kids' study designed to inspire learning and creativity.

From the moment you arrive, Highfield exudes a sense of calm confidence. A beautifully landscaped central spine by Nathan Burkett welcomes you with structured plantings, sculptural trees, and carefully curated stonework, leading to an elegant entrance. Inside, bespoke steel-framed glass doors, softened by sheer drapery, reveal a home office that balances privacy and connection—ideal for today's work-from-home lifestyle.

The home is grounded by rich American oak flooring, which flows seamlessly throughout the living areas and is echoed by matching oak joinery in the kitchen, creating a warm and cohesive foundation.

The sunken lounge creates a dramatic and intimate space, wrapped in deep wine tones and featuring a ceiling-mounted projector that transforms it into a private cinema at the touch of a button. Adjacent to the lounge, a powder room echoes the rich material palette and provides convenient access for guests.

The main living areas open beneath a soaring double-height curved ceiling, with soft-toned walls enhancing the natural light and warmth. The kitchen showcases the oak joinery paired with integrated V-ZUG appliances and elegant benchtops in Taj Mahal quartzite and Titanium White granite. The adjoining butler's kitchen keeps the main kitchen clutter-free and ready for entertaining.

The master suite offers a sanctuary of quiet luxury, featuring a sculptural matte-white freestanding bath set against a pixelated mosaic wall that fades from light to dark, softened by chrome sconces and natural light streaming through.

Seamlessly blending indoor and outdoor living, Highfield features large stone pavers weaving through lush garden beds, a steel pergola framing an outdoor entertaining space, and a pool that complements the home's linear architecture. Floor-to-ceiling glass walls dissolve boundaries and invite the garden in.

At Mazzei, our reputation as a leader in Melbourne's luxury home market is built on a foundation of quality, collaboration, and personalised service. Highfield exemplifies this ethos—demonstrating how expert design, superior construction, and thoughtful landscaping combine to create a home that will be treasured for generations. Choosing Mazzei means investing in more than just a house; it means building a legacy of luxury, comfort, and timeless elegance.
