PLAYMAKER RECRUITING

Ravenwood HS has some major expectations heading into the 2026 season.

Tennessee program almost pulled off the perfect season in 2025, going 14 - 0 before being dealt a devastating 62 - 21 loss in the 6A championships. I don't believe it's far-fetched to say that the Ravenwood Raptors would like to get that one back and their secondary taking the next step would greatly help them reach that goal. Ranking 17th in interceptions per game and 21st in points allowed per game in Tennessee 6A competition isn't bad but it's not where the Raptors will need to be if they want to make sure they snatch that ring.

In order to take that next step the Raptors will surely look to their two senior CBs, Dallas Stallings and Jacob Jewell. Already a known dynamic duo amongst the Tennessee ranks, the cornerback couplet has received offers from multiple FCS programs in the area, including UT Martin, Eastern Tennessee State, and Austin Peay. These young playmakers will have to tack on the pressure of performing for these programs on top of the high expectations beset by their own community. That's a tall task for any young athlete, but these two have more than enough capability to exceed what is needed.

PLAYMAKER RECRUITING

Dallas Stallings, who possesses the sole FBS offer of the two, stands at 5'10" 170 and is lightning in a bottle. Best suited in off zone assignments, Stallings is a marksman from space. Combining sharp eyes, explosive athleticism, and a love for contact, Stallings looks to bait routes deep and punish targets at the catch point.

At 6'2" 185 Jacob Jewell does not have the same athletic ability of his prolific partner, but he has length that can't be taught and he knows how to use it. Jewell offers a different playstyle, using his impressive length and strength profile to disrupt routes with his hands, staying tight and physical through the route. Jewell has his fair share of instincts as well, showing to be an heady, aggressive run defender that loves to hit.

Unfortunately this impressive pair of young corners do not have any public stats available, and that may be a part of why they don't have the eyes on them that you might expect. That being said, the best show that they are too talented to miss regardless of stats, and that's exactly what they'll be aiming to prove.
