

SUCCESS STORY

Saved 6–10 Hours Per Project & Boosted Estimating Process by 40% with Beam Al

Automated takeoffs help increase weekly bid volume without additional hires

6–10 hours saved per project

40% faster estimate turnaround

Reduced revision time, even with multiple addenda

Beam AI took the worst part of estimating, the measuring, counting, and spec-checking, and made it automatic. No more burning hours before I even get to the bid.

ABOUT

Founded in 2022, this leading estimating firm was established by industry veterans. The company has already delivered over $40 million in accurate, field-ready estimates for projects ranging from high-end residential builds to complex commercial developments.

Beam Al improved takeoff accuracy by catching previously overlooked issues.

CHALLENGES

Even after using McCormick, the team used to manually measure and symbol count for every feeder, device, and plan notes.

Large, multi-floor projects consumed significant time.

Time-intensive revision process, especially with multiple addenda.

BREAKING DOWN KEY WINS

After adopting Beam AI, the company saw several changes in its bidding process:

Beam AI scans drawings, interprets legends, extracts quantities and measurements, and delivers ready-to-use material quantities, saving 6-10 hours per project.

Increased weekly bid volume without additional hires.

Al surfaced details we used to double-check manually.

With Beam Al, we have increased weekly bid volume without hiring headcount.

Reduced labor cost per estimate by cutting down non-value-added hours.

Better client and supplier experience through accurate, detailed, and annotated outputs.

estimates processed weekly without expanding team size.

takeoffs reduced rework and missed items.

Improved accuracy, Al-based

Freed up time to focus on pricing and winning bids instead of grinding through drawings.

Now, Beam AI scans the drawings, reads the legend, pulls out the counts, measures lengths, grabs notes, and hands us a clean spreadsheet.
