Your arrival on campus is only a short time away – and we are eager for you to join us! We are here to guide you from this moment until your graduation from high school.

We hope that this guide gives you the tools you need as you prepare to begin your Amerigo journey!

The Know Before You Go Guide was developed to answer many of the most commonly asked questions that students and parents may have prior to arriving on campus. As you prepare for the school year, it is a valuable reference and a means to avoid confusion and misunderstandings.

As you are reading this, we are sure that you are both a little bit nervous, and a little bit excited. We created this guide to help calm some of your nerves and affirm some of your excitement.

In creating this guide, we have covered topics ranging from local attractions and necessary clothing, to descriptions of the home you will soon be inhabiting. We have tried to be as thorough as we can in preparing this and have relied on our years of working with young international students to help direct us. However, there may be topics or subjects that we do not address fully.

If you have any questions at all, don't hesitate to contact our Amerigo staff

Preface

At Amerigo, we believe that a fundamental part of the student experience is the culture of our campus. We strive to create a fulfilling and safe environment, which starts with the ethical behavior of our staff and students.

Therefore, we expect the following from every student who is a part of our campus:

INTEGRITY

I will be honest in all my interactions with others. I will not lie, plagiarize, cheat or steal, nor will I tolerate these actions by others.

RESPECT FOR ONESELF

I will work to develop healthy habits of mind, body and spirit.
I will not use alcohol, illegal drugs or other harmful substances.

RESPONSIBILITY

I will take responsibility for my actions, rather than make excuses or blame others. When I fall short, I will learn from my mistakes and try again.

RESPECT FOR OTHERS AND THE COMMUNITY

I will treat others as I would like to be treated and will also look for opportunities to better the community around me.

In addition, at Amerigo Education, we are rooted in a core set of values that set expectations for our culture, our staff and our students.

MENTOR

Embodies the spirit of looking out for youth; an experienced individual tasked with training and counseling new students.

VOYAGER

Demonstrates a curiosity of the world and new ways of doing things; works in sync with everyone in the community, looks out for them and has fun with them.

CANDOR

Views a direct and open presentation of one's own thoughts and ideas as essential; willing to be honest in holding oneself and others accountable.

Please note that Huawei Phones are not adaptable in the US, as many apps do not work on them.

Upon arrival, students will have two options for procuring a cell phone plan, including a SIM card :

PURCHASE A CELL PHONE PLAN THROUGH AMERIGO

For students who already have a smart phone, Amerigo offers an option for them to purchase an unlimited talk, text and data plan (sim card included), in collaboration with a major US cell phone carrier T-Mobile. The plan provides students phone service in the US throughout the academic year at a discounted student rate.

PURCHASE A CELL PHONE PLAN THROUGH A THIRD PARTY

Although discouraged, a student may pursue cell service through a third party in the US. Students must ensure their cell and data service is working properly throughout the year. Students should purchase unlimited talk, text, and data plans. A comparable cell phone plan through a third party is generally more expensive than one offered by Amerigo.

While studying through Amerigo, you will need to pay for personal services, incidentals, and other individual purchases out-of-pocket. In most instances, payment will be made by you at the time services are offered. Examples are services at medical facilities that are not covered by insurance (deductible, non-emergency dental work, pre-existing conditions), and school club activity fees, AP test fees, sports gear, etc.

Below are three ways our students have access to money.

INTERNATIONAL CREDIT CARD

Students can use a family credit card with their parents' permission or endorsement.

This is the most convenient and preferred form of payment.

Parents appreciate having access to the transaction history.

STUDENT CONTINGENCY ACCOUNT

Each student has a Contingency Account with Amerigo.

Students may use the contingency account to pay for some medical expenses or school activity fees.

Any money not used by a student will be credited back at the end of their studies with Amerigo.

BANKING IN THE US

Students over the age of 16 may choose to open a bank account at the Bank of America in the US.

This allows parents to wire funds directly from a local bank in the home country. Please check with your local bank as fees apply.

Students under the age of 16 are required to have parents' presence when opening a US bank account.

When do I choose my classes?

Ahead of your departure, you will be invited to school-specific course interest and planning sessions by the Amerigo Academics Team. You may also email support@amerigoeducation.com if you have any questions.

Section 4

5 Important Tips for High School in the US

1

Your work must be your own

In the US, academic integrity is important. This means that any work you do for school originates from your own thoughts and evaluations. Even answers found from outside sources must be either rephrased so that they reflect your own thoughts and word choices or attributed to the source. Additionally, work should not be AI-generated and must reflect your own effort.

2

Your American educational experience is a marathon, not a sprint

A marathon is a long race that requires consistent effort, while a sprint is a short race that requires a quick burst of effort. American school is more like a marathon, where your consistent contributions and efforts will be rewarded.

Get ready to actively participate in class

An American classroom is full of activity, with lots of discussion, debate, and vocal participation. Understanding the material is important, and American teachers like to see that students are able to show their understanding of the material and contribute to the discussion.

Technology is for schoolwork—not just for socializing

Many of your courses will require that you use a laptop or iPad in conjunction with written or physical materials. Although it is tempting to use your device for other purposes (gaming or browsing the internet), this is something that is not permissible in school and can lead to disciplinary action. Many high schools do not allow cell phone use during the school day.

Make sure to schedule one-on-one time

Make appointments with teachers and guidance counselors. This will afford you even more one-on-one time with some important people in the school so you can build a relationship.

Section 5

Living in the US: 5 Things to Know

5 THINGS TO KNOW ABOUT LIVING IN THE US

1

There is a zero tolerance approach to drinking, smoking, vaping and/or substance abuse

One major difference between many countries and the US are laws around smoking, vaping and drinking. The United States takes smoking, vaping and drinking laws very seriously. Even if you come from a country where people your own age are allowed to smoke, vape or drink, it is important that you acknowledge that it is against the US law that people under the age of 21 purchase or consume cigarettes, electronic cigarettes, alcohol or any other substance.

Utilize your English skills

One of the key components of your experience in the US with Amerigo is that you graduate from our school with very strong English skills! At the same time, we know that learning a new language can be exhausting and that it can be very comforting to finish the school day and speak with your friends in the language of your home country. That said, we hope you use English as much as you can while also monitoring yourself and recognizing when you need to take a break.

3

Mr., Miss, Ms. Or Mx!

Respectful greetings for adults vary from culture to culture. When you get to the US, refer to adults by the title, Mr., Miss, Ms., or Mx, followed by their last name.

4

Tips on tipping

The United States has a tipping culture for many of its service workers. We ask you to be mindful of this while living in the US. Here are some tips on how to tip service workers:

- Do tip: waiter, meal delivery person, hairdresser, nail salon staff, coffee shop worker
- Do not tip: help desk workers, mechanic or plumber, teachers or Amerigo staff, flight attendants

Be careful with what you joke about!

In general, the US has a pretty casual approach to joking in social situations. However, some topics are considered off-limits or even threatening. Before you arrive in the US, we wanted to make sure you were aware of some of these topics:

- Self-harm:

Any jokes about hurting yourself will be taken extremely seriously and can even elevate to contact with parents or medical officials. Amerigo will always help any students going through difficult feelings, but joking about this topic is insensitive and can be harmful to you and your community.

- Violence:

Jokes about violence of any kind, particularly threatening someone with weapons, will likely result in a meeting with your Principal, Director of Campus Operations, or even local authorities. Additionally, serious consequences, up to and including dismissal, are possible outcomes.

- Another person's appearance:

Depending on where you're from, this may seem odd, but Americans generally do not make jokes about each other's appearance. In fact, jokes about appearances can be viewed as offensive and may be considered bullying.

- Jokes of a sexual nature:

Sexual jokes are also considered to be extremely offensive and should not ever be made.

- Race/Ethnicity:

Amerigo is a diverse and inclusive environment that embraces the traditions and culture of all ethnic and/or racial backgrounds. Disparaging comments made about any race or ethnicity will not be tolerated.

Section 6

Making the Most of Your Amerigo Experience

1 Make Friends

America is known to be a melting pot where people come from various countries, cultures and ethnicities. It may feel comfortable to spend time with people from a similar background and culture, but we encourage you to make friends with local students and students from other countries. You can be an ambassador of your own culture and country, and you will be amazed at how much you can learn from each other!

2 Join a Club or Activity

Your high school years are one of the best opportunities you will ever get to explore new activities, try different things, and see what you're passionate about. Inside the classroom and outside of it, you'll start to get a better idea of who you are and what drives you. This is also the best way to make friends, build your communication and leadership skills, and above all, have some fun.

3 Volunteer for Those in Need

Most schools have required community service hours. Doing what you can to give back to the community is one of the traits advocated for in American education. A lot of opportunities will be provided both by the school for students to engage in volunteer work. You could devote some hours mentoring younger kids, providing peer tutoring, cleaning a park, or baking cookies for a food shelter. You will get so much satisfaction by knowing you have helped someone in need!

4 Take on a Leadership Role!

Leadership is one of the characteristics that American colleges and universities look for in an applicant. Leaders are simply the ones that serve others and make a difference in a community regardless of how small or big the community is. There is an abundance of opportunities at school or a local community where you can take a leadership role. Just remember, no role is too small.
