OSHKI-PIMACHE-O-WIN: THE WENJACK EDUCATION INSTITUTE

We're looking for

PART-TIME SESSIONAL PRACTICAL NURSING INSTRUCTORS!

Established by Nishnawbe Aski Nation, the Oshki-Pimache-O-Win: The Wenjack Education Institute provides culturally appropriate education and training programs through blended delivery methods using online learning platforms and on-campus sessions. We offer choice, accessibility and flexibility in learning opportunities for people seeking new beginnings through education and training.

We are looking for dynamic Part Time Sessional Instructors to teach in the Practical Nursing Program in person during the intensive blocks on campus and synchronous online courses to our students living in local, rural and remote northern locations.

Experienced instructors will engage, mentor and support our students to achieve their education goals for new beginnings, supported by our D2L Brightspace learning management system for discussion posts, assignment submission, tests/quizzes. Instructors will adhere to administrative requirements of Oshki-Wenjack and partner institutions.

Oshki-Wenjack is committed to creating a diverse and inclusive environment and welcomes applications from all qualified individuals, Indigenous people, women, racialized persons, persons with disabilities and other equity-seeking groups.

Applications should include: a letter of interest, resume, evidence of teaching background (including statement of teaching philosophy, experience with and approach to equity, diversity, and inclusion of Indigenous pedagogy and culture in course materials and methods of evaluation). Please include, the names and contact information of three references.

Interested instructors are invited to submit a letter of interest, a resume, and teaching references, to:
