

TRAVEL NOTEBOOK

Snap that suitcase shut and lose yourself this summer to fresh sea air and majestic mountain views.

Space to reset

For those craving a pause from the everyday, Aro Hā in New Zealand's Southern Alps offers a luxury retreat like no other. Built to draw energy from the surrounding peaks, days here unfold with yoga, meditation, hiking, and plant-based cuisine, all designed to restore body and mind. The spaces themselves feel alive, shaped to support wellbeing while embracing a self-sustaining, regenerative ethos. Co-founded by Damian Chaparro, Aro Hā invites guests to step off the beaten path, immerse themselves in the landscape, and leave with a sense of renewal that lingers long after the mountains fade from view.
