The Moment of Convergence

At the heart of the City of London, The Digital Commonwealth convenes innovators, policymakers, and investors shaping the next era of responsible digital growth.

Seven years ago, The Digital Commonwealth began as a mission to bring emerging technologies to the Square Mile.

Today, that mission has evolved into a national platform uniting Digital Assets, ScienceTech, and Web3 - not as separate worlds, but as a single ecosystem driving Britain's next era of growth.

As the UK prepares for comprehensive digital-asset regulation, collaboration between industry and government has never mattered more.

This is the moment of convergence, when innovation, policy, and purpose meet to define Britain's global role in responsible technology. We are living through the most powerful fusion of innovation in history - reshaping economies, societies, and human potential. The Digital Commonwealth stands ready to lead that conversation.

Our Purpose

To convene, connect and celebrate those building the foundations of a trusted digital future.

Through the Mansion House Summit Series, GDASW3 London 2025 and The Digital Commonwealth Awards, we bring together leaders from finance, technology, and regulation to translate vision into progress.

Our Three Pillars

Innovation

Showcasing technologies redefining finance, science and society.

Education

Equipping decision-makers to navigate the opportunities of digital transformation.

Collaboration

Building trusted bridges between innovators, regulators and investors.

Testimonials

Our inaugural Mansion House Summit which took place on February 26th was an oversubscribed event, which received universal praise from attendees and participants.

The Hon Albert Isola CBE
Partner Isolde LLP, Ex-Finance Minister
Gibraltar

A most impressive gathering at The Digital Commonwealth's inaugural Mansion House Summit on Monday. The depth of talent on display was quite striking and the panel sessions were a clear insight into the direction of travel. Excited about the future of the digital asset sector and hopeful of progress in a regulatory framework which will enable the industry to grow with certainty and confidence. The beauty of this event was that it was not about promoting products or people but furthering important discussion on each of the areas of interest. Very special thanks to James Bowater and Darren Parkin for their efforts in organising this event, and I eagerly look forward to supporting this initiative in the future.

Kene Ezeji-Okoye

Spent a fantastic day at Mansion House for The Digital Commonwealth Summit Series.

Many thanks for an excellent day James Bowater, and for putting together an amazing day with really engaging panels covering the convergence of #TradFi and #DeFi.

Great to see so many friendly and highly informed people in one place as well!

Lord Holmes of Richmond MBE
House of Lords

Great morning at the Digital Commonwealth's inaugural Mansion House Summit and a great line up of discussions throughout the day.

Always fabulous to hear from Loretta Joseph about the work she is doing - looking forward to her draft regulation tomorrow. Powerful call for standards, consistency of terminology and closer working with our friends in the Commonwealth.

I was delighted to share a stage with Dr Lisa C., Lord Ed Vaizey, Eva Gustavsson and The Hon Albert Isola CBE focusing on what more we should be doing to take advantage of our various assets, inc. common law (shout out, as ever, to Sarah Green and her team at the Law Commission of England and Wales on the work they are doing on this), geography, time zone, financial services, fintech, talent open banking and why we "need to get on with it".

We were followed by another great panel discussing #DeFi #CeFi and the future of #TradFi: more positive about the interplay between these worlds that you might have thought - are we facing the era of convergence? Helen Disney Elise Soucie Dina White Stefania Barbaglio Jannah Patchay. Lots of food for thought on #stablecoins #AMMs #Paypal's USD backed #stablecoin not to mention #realworldassets!

Congrats to James Bowater and Darren Parkin for pulling it all together and looking forward to future summits.

George Godsall
Founder of REKT Partners

Many congratulations to James Bowater and Darren Parkin for organising the hugely impressive inaugural The Digital Commonwealth Mansion House Summit Series Event this week. It brought together an extremely varied group of leaders in the digital assets space - from regulators to lawyers to AI gurus and plenty of entrepreneurs and builders - resulting in thought-provoking keynotes and panels, and great impromptu discussions in breaks too. In addition, it is rare to have the role of reputation management included in the line-up of panels - I was grateful to participate in this highly enjoyable discussion with Helen Moore and Matt Fincham, deftly moderated by Angus Campbell. I'm looking forward to participating in future Mansion House Summits! Thanks again James and Darren.

Jannah Patchay
Director, Markets Evolution

I had a fantastic day yesterday at The Digital Commonwealth's first in a series of Mansion House Summits held in - you guessed it - the amazing Mansion House building. discussing the Fermi Paradox, the weak and strong anthropic principles, and bad Java code written by Cobol developers, over lunch). Alas no hugs from Eric Van der Kleij on this occasion, but perhaps next time...

Congratulations to James Bowater, Darren Parkin and the Digital Commonwealth team for putting on such a fantastic, thoughtful and well-organised event - the first of many!

Dr Lisa Cameron
President of The Financial Club

An energising day at The Digital Commonwealth's Mansion House Summit — a rare blend of smart minds, open dialogue, and a genuine sense of momentum. What stood out most was the diversity of expertise in the room and the shared commitment to shaping a clearer, more unified future for digital assets. The conversations were grounded, constructive, and refreshingly focused on collaboration over promotion. Huge credit to James Bowater for creating such a valuable forum — a must-attend event for anyone serious about the future of this space.

David Taylor
Web3 CMO

The Digital Commonwealth's Summit series is more than just a regular calendar fixture or another crypto event - it's a signal of where everything Digital is going, and is a who's who of those helping actively shape the future.

What sets this series apart is the calibre of conversation and the intention behind the curation. The quality of attendees, the diversity of perspectives, and the meaningful space it creates for real connection makes every event feel like a catalyst - not just a conference.

In a space that too often prioritises scale over substance, the Digital Commonwealth gets it right.

Your vibe attracts your tribe, and this tribe is one worth showing up for.
