Stock control management

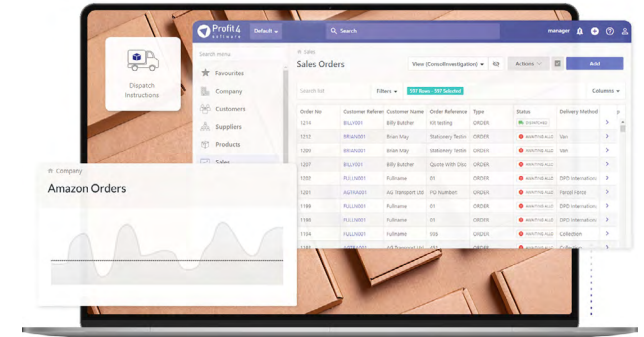

Advanced multi-location stock management software

We understand that your inventory and warehouse are at the core of your business. Therefore, we believe that having a reliable stock management system is crucial to your success.

Profit4 has an advanced and comprehensive stock management system that will take your business to the next level. With Profit4, you can manage multi-channel sales from both digital and physical locations, as well as multi-location stock movements. This means that you will always have complete visibility and traceability of your stock, allowing you to deliver on your promises and exceed customer expectations.

In addition, Profit4 connects your stock with your purchasing and finance team, ensuring that your numbers are always accurate. This is further improved by perpetual stock counts and detailed reporting which helps you proactively stay on top of your inventory and cash flow.

Sales order management

Provide a seamless sales ordering service

Our innovative solution helps streamline your order management process from sales enquiry right through to dispatch. With Profit4, you can easily connect all areas of your business and manage orders across multiple sales channels, giving you a clear view of all your orders.

From initial communication to stock allocation, purchasing, warehouse management, and finance, Profit4 provides full control over your business operations. By removing manual tasks that can lead to costly errors, you can improve productivity and increase efficiency.

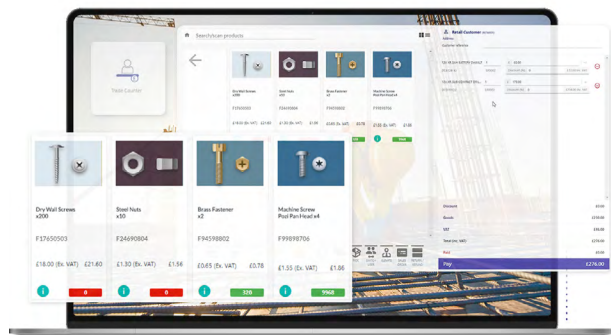

Not only will this save time and resources, but it will also allow you to get the right products to your customers quicker, improving your reputation and increasing repeat orders and customer retention rates.

Increasing your routes to market will boost sales revenue. With Profit4, managing orders from your sales reps, trade counter, online shopping channels, or eCommerce store has never been easier. The best part is that you can do so seamlessly without incurring any extra overhead costs.

Trade counter

Deliver a seamless shopping experience

Our intuitive OGL Trade Counter feature is a dedicated interface that is fully integrated with Profit4, allowing you to work from the same stock and customer data as all other departments. This means that your staff can access up-to-date information on stock availability, pricing, profit margins, and customer sales history. With this information at your fingertips, you can provide the best possible customer service and confidently place orders. Additionally, your purchasing team can keep on top of stock levels, and the warehouse can better prepare and plan.

You can enhance your customer experience by integrating your card machine into Profit4; you can streamline your payment process and reduce manual errors. Through our partnership with Paymentsense and Dojo, we offer integrated payments that connect your card machine to your EPOS in the cloud. This means you only have to enter the payment once, saving you time and reducing the risk of mis-keyed transactions.

In addition, we also offer a Signature Pad add-on that integrates with Profit4. After a trade counter sale is made, Profit4 prompts you to print a delivery note and capture the customer's signature digitally. This allows you to obtain a signed copy of the transaction, which can be printed immediately. By implementing this feature, you can streamline your trade counter process and elevate your customer service to the next level.

Marches Architectural Hardware

About Marches

Marches Architectural Hardware is a family-owned business and has been supplying the joinery, carpentry and construction industries for over 20 years.

This limited company buys in and sells products from other manufacturers in the UK.

Marches journey to Profit4

After outgrowing their previous software, Sage 50, and due to the growth of their business, Marches Architectural Hardware required a more robust software solution that included support, security and removed their manual processes.

Rob Nicholls, Product and Supply Chain Manager explained, "We were using a remote desktop solution, and it was probably exhausted to the amount that it could have been. The biggest problem we had was that we didn't have any security."

"We got to that stage where we were running backups multiple times a day so if we did have crashes, we wouldn't have to input all the data again. As a business, we were having to close at lunchtime as well as doing it in the evenings."

"We're a company that likes to try and keep everything in-house. We do pretty much everything within the company except for software, that's something that we don't specialise in. OGL Software had everything within the company."
