CEO Letter

Dear Friends,

How are you? The past two years have been tough, haven't they? Not one person has escaped some degree of suffering during the COVID-19 pandemic. As I write this, we appear to be emerging firmly out of the surge and into a time where COVID-19 is more manageable.

My gratitude to you, our donors and funders, for your continued support that ensured Caminar's response to the urgent behavioral health needs of the Bay Area's underserved populations during the recent surges. Thank you. I am pleased to share with you our fiscal year 2021 Impact Report.

Behavioral health care plays a crucial role in reducing homelessness, incarceration, and hospitalizations. It also bolsters people's ability to engage with family, school, work, and primary care -- and creates lasting economic and health benefits for individuals, families, and the community. Last year, the need for behavioral health care increased as the pandemic wreaked havoc on our lives. Because of you, we continued to positively impact the lives of our clients, their families, and the community. We were also able to absorb the financial implications of the pandemic.

Our work of being a mission-driven behavioral health organization -- last year, this year, and beyond -- remains focused on the anchors of our strategic plan:

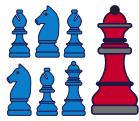

Serving those with moderate and severe behavioral health issues, focusing on the co-occurring disorders of mental health and substance use

Addressing the social determinants of health; housing, food, income security, and racism

Emphasizing both individual- and community-level outcomes to reduce hospitalizations, incarcerations, and housing instability while focusing on individual well-being and functioning

Improving clinical precision and applying research with compassion in the diagnosis, treatment, and management of complex behavioral health conditions

I continue to be indebted to our supporters, staff, community, board of directors, and board chair for the ongoing support of our organization and all the individuals we serve. Thank you.

Please don't hesitate to reach out if you have any questions about this report or the services we provide. Thank you for your generosity and compassion for the behavioral health of our most at-risk neighbors. We cannot do what we do without you.

In appreciation,

Mark Cloutier, MPP, MPH
Caminar CEO

Board Chair Letter

Dear Supporters of Caminar,

As Caminar's board chair during the last fiscal year, I am honored to share our fiscal year 2021 Impact Report with you.

Last year, when the pandemic made so much seem hopeless and we realized its disproportionate effect on the behavioral health of BIPOC communities, essential workers, adolescents, and people who are insecurely housed, you delivered hope.

Caminar's Behavioral Health Equity Fund was created to continue our response to the urgent behavioral health needs of the Bay Area's underserved populations, particularly those in the hardest-hit communities. Your response was tremendous, and we are deeply grateful. Thank you.

Supporting the behavioral health of a deeply underserved community takes an extraordinary sense of passion and compassion for staff, donors, and volunteers. It connects us to our mission and bonds us to each other. That, more than anything else, has made the role of board chair stimulating, challenging, and so rewarding for me. It really does take a village. Thank you for being part of our village.

My term as chair ended at the start of this calendar year. As I reflect on my two years in the role, I'm so grateful that we made the inspired choice to hire Mark as our CEO, and he accepted our offer to lead Caminar with deep intelligence, intention, skill, and grace. I have treasured the opportunity to work alongside him. As Mark has grown Caminar's vision, strategic plan, and senior leadership team, we have grown as a board to keep pace with the organization and be the best leaders we can be. We owe that and nothing less to our incredible and dedicated staff and our deserving clients. It has been a joy and a privilege to serve as board chair.

While my work with Caminar will continue in a different capacity, I am delighted to introduce you to our new board chair, Barbara Patterson. Barbara and I have known each other and worked together for many years. With her healthcare background and strong leadership skills, she is the perfect board chair for Caminar's next chapter. I couldn't be happier for Caminar to have Barbara at the helm.

With deep gratitude for your support,

Betsy Pace, Caminar Board Chair, 2019-2021

Statement of Financials for the Fiscal Year 2021

As a community-based organization, we take seriously the trust placed in us by our donors, funders, volunteers, and clients. We are dedicated to providing the highest quality science-based services, operating efficiently and effectively, and adhering to the highest standards of fiscal management. Here are our financial results for the fiscal year 2021, from July 1, 2020 - June 30, 2021.

Need

Over the course of 2021, the COVID-19 pandemic affected the behavioral health of our community, country, and the world. Vaccine development and rollout allowed some returns to normal, but the pandemic continued to wreak havoc on our behavioral health and disrupt the organizations that care for those in need:

53% of adults in the United States reported their mental health has been negatively impacted due to worry and stress over the coronavirus

63% of young adults reported symptoms of anxiety and/or depressive disorders during the pandemic

The average share of adults reporting symptoms of anxiety disorder and/or depressive disorder changed dramatically: January-June 2019 – 11% versus January 2021 – 41.1%

Substance use and suicidal ideation became pronounced for young adults, with 25% reporting they started or increased substance use during the pandemic

People with lower incomes were more likely to report major negative mental health impacts from worry or stress over the coronavirus. In December 2020, 35% of people earning less than $40,000 reported experiencing a major negative mental health impact, compared to 21% of those with incomes between $40,000 to $89,999 and 17% of those making $90,000 or more

The economic impact of serious mental illness in the United States is $317.6 billion each year: $193.2 billion in lost earnings, $100.1 billion in treatment, and $24.3 billion in disability benefits - including the economic impact of mild and moderate mental illness and substance use conditions, the economic impact of behavioral health conditions grows substantially

While last year saw an increase in demand, the pandemic also affected the utilization of services and the ability of health care organizations to serve all those in need of services. At Caminar, we experienced some limitations:

- Vaccinations were not widely available until the fourth quarter of the fiscal year 2020-2021, hindering the number of people who could be served in person
- While telehealth was deployed, some clients were unable to utilize it as effectively due to the severity of one's illness, challenges with the technology, or lack of a device or reliable internet service
- A pre-existing shortage of clinicians and system strains was exacerbated by COVID-related staffing and other challenges that impacted the ability of our network to refer clients to us
- School closures negatively impacted our capability to reach all adolescents typically served through school-based services
- Office closures, shelter-in-place, work-from-home initiatives, and limits on public gatherings negatively impacted our capacity to educate the community through our Speakers Bureau

However, Caminar continued to show up for those most in need.

Impact

With thanks to our partners - including government funders, individual donors, foundations, corporations, and our board of directors - Caminar has continued to address the significant need for behavioral health services in our community. In 2021, we:

Moved forward our strategic plan priorities to position Caminar as a leading mission-driven behavioral health care organization in the Bay Area

Maintained positive cash flow despite the increased costs associated with the pandemic

Balanced operating safely in a pandemic – minimizing COVID infection risk for staff, clients, and the community both before vaccines were widely available and after – while continuing to serve our clients and the community with evidence-based psychiatric and clinical treatment, and programs for recovery, education, and prevention

Reached over 14,000 children and adults with behavioral health education, prevention, treatment, and recovery programs across five counties in the Bay Area and Northern California:

391 lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, queer, questioning, and ally youth and young adults connected with a safe and supportive environment with mental health and wellness resources

533 young adults and adults gained skills to address the root causes of domestic violence, child abuse, and neglect to end cycles of violence and abuse

705 young adults and adults received supportive services to build networks of support, resume their education, or reenter the workforce

1,056 local youth, families, and teachers accessed counseling, consultation, and support through programs connected to their schools

1,327 individuals accessed life-changing housing and wrap-around supportive resources to keep them housed

1,860 adults moved forward in recovery from addiction

2,767 individuals received residential or outpatient mental health treatment, case management, and wellness services

5,590 individuals in the greater community learned from our Speakers Bureau to create environments that embody the values of equity, diversity, inclusion, and reduce stigma

Continued to measure our community health outcomes and meet or exceed goals, including reductions in hospitalizations, incarcerations, and homelessness, and increases in employment and community engagement:

Our adult specialty mental health practice serves individuals with chronic and serious mental health conditions with histories of unstable housing and frequent hospitalization and/or incarceration. Services include intensive case management and mental health treatment, engagement with psychiatry for medication management, and linkage with ancillary services such as substance use treatment and physical health care. In the fiscal year 2020-2021, these programs exceeded goals and improved the quality of life for these clients, their families, and our community. Because of our quality care, we always overperform on our goals, and we routinely outperform our competitors:

Caminar Jobs Plus is a full-service employment program providing evidence-based practices for people with disabilities seeking competitive employment. Employment has the potential to contribute to positive health outcomes for individuals with serious mental illnesses. In the fiscal year 2021, Jobs Plus clients reported both satisfaction and job retention that exceeded program goals:

Grew revenue generation capacity, thanks to the significant support of Caminar's Behavioral Health Equity Fund, which was created to continue our response to the urgent behavioral health needs of the Bay Area's underserved populations

Achieved recognition and accreditation from independent standards organizations in our industry:

Earned the Candid Platinum Seal of Transparency which acknowledges the extensive information added to our profile including contact and organizational information; in-depth financials; qualitative goal, strategy, and capability information; and quantitative results and progress toward our mission

Received Commission on Accreditation of Rehabilitation Facilities (CARF) accreditation through March 2024, which demonstrates our adherence to international standards of quality and commitment to the pursuit of excellence in care
