PROJECT HIGHLIGHTS

Bank Office Centre Design & Build Project Completed

We have recently completed a Design & Build office centre project for a local bank at its Western District office in Hong Kong. Spanning 6,000 square feet, the project marks the client’s first hybrid workspace in Hong Kong, integrating office and leisure functions. It also represents an important milestone in supporting new ways of working and enhancing its employee care culture.

The Impact of E-commerce on Logistics Automation

In e-commerce, the biggest concern is often not a lack of orders, but a sudden surge in demand that overwhelms back-end logistics systems. Consider this scenario: a marketing campaign achieves great success, and overnight order volume multiplies several times. Many businesses are concerned about the initial investment. While it is indeed a decision that requires careful planning, a long-term cost analysis reveals a different picture.

How A&A Works Extend the Lifespan of Old Buildings?

Many industrial buildings in Hong Kong are now reaching an advanced age, with deterioration problems becoming increasingly apparent. Rather than responding passively to problems, it is better to plan early for Alteration and Addition works. Through systematic inspection and upgrading, structural and facility deterioration can be addressed at its root, extending the building's lifespan.
