Dear Parents of Cubbies,

Thank you for choosing to enroll your three- and four-year-olds in the Cubbies program at TCF. As Director, it is an honor for me to participate in the spiritual growth of your children and I thank you for trusting us with your child. Last year, I was amazed to see the kids grow through the year and I loved hearing from the parents that their children were able to recall scripture and apply it to what was going on in their little lives at the time. As a mom of nine, I can attest to the joy that wells up in your heart when you hear your child speak God's word from memory.

As Cubbies Director, part of my responsibility is to keep the learning environment focused on the spiritual development for all of the children who attend. It is helpful to remember that we parents know what we are signing our children up for, but sometimes it's not what they have in mind for their day. Any number of things can throw a toddler off course behaviorally – a missed nap, a lost toy, etc. We understand and want to love on your child despite what is going on in their life that day. However, to help keep the learning environment clearly focused, we have a disciplinary structure we expect to be adhered to by volunteers and parents alike should a child's behavior becomes overly disruptive. This model consists of three status levels:

1. Green Zone: verbal warning addressing the disruptive behavior and encouragement to participate constructively.
2. Yellow Zone: Earns a brief timeout, including a reminder that participation requires good behavior.
3. Red Zone: Leaders remove disruptive child from the classroom and page the parent. The parent will decide on sitting in with their child or taking the child out for the balance of the program. Should we fail to reach a parent on campus, the child will be supervised in the nursery until the parent comes for the child. Certain behavior (e.g. violence) may earn Red Zone status without prior warning.

Your support in this process is vital for maintaining the safety and growth of all the children enrolled. Please reach out to me or Commander Aaron to discuss if your child has any special needs for learning and growing as we are happy to accommodate within our means as a club.

As always, we encourage parents to be involved as much as possible since the program starts with you in the first place! YOU are the vital piece in the program when you commit to teaching your child God's word and we are here to support your effort. I look forward to a wonderful year of growth in our Cubbies program and I can't wait to see what God does.

Sincerely,

Kristen Randall
