

Destiny Cycle Media Kit

Epic Celtic-Inspired Fantasy by James Raquepau

Prepared: October 08, 2025

Elevator Pitch

In 5th-century Erin (Ireland), where myth and history collide, warrior Breanna Ban Morna—of Norse and Gael blood—answers the Tuatha Dé Danann’s call to defend her people. As fate tightens its grip, she must choose between clan, oath, and the dangerous price of power.

Series Snapshot

- Genre: Epic / Historical Fantasy (Celtic & Gaelic-inspired)
- Setting: 5th-century Erin (Ireland) & then wider Celtic world
- Lead: Breanna Ban Morna—Erin’s Hero (oath-bound, time-touched)
- Mythic Spine: Tuatha Dé Danann, Druidic Elemental magic, Cycle of Time

Reading Order

- Lann Dàn — Blades of Destiny Revised Edition III
- Lia Dàn — Stone of Destiny Revised Edition II
- Croí Dàn — Heart of Destiny (New)
- Laogh Dàn — Warriors of Destiny (H1/2026)
- Daoine Dàn — Immortals of Destiny (H2/2026)

Availability

- On-sale window – Blades, Stone, Heart of Destiny: October 2025.
- Formats: eBook, paperback, hardback (Amazon only), audiobook.
- Trade distribution: IngramSpark; major online retailers.
- Boxed sets: Duology (Books One–Two) and Trilogy eBook (Books One–Three).
- ISBN Directory: destinycycle.com/blog/finding-destiny-cycle-novels-by-isbn

Contact & Requests

- Publicity: press@destinycycle.com
- Media: media@destinycycle.com
- Series Hub: www.destinycycle.com
- Review copies (ARC/NFR): press@destinycycle.com
- Interviews / Events / Podcasts: media@destinycycle.com
- Assets & Brand Kit: press@destinycycle.com

Book Summaries

Lann Dàn (Lanna Dawn) – Blades of Destiny

Danu directs Breanna to recover the Lann Dàn, the Blades of Destiny, a step toward removing a brutal band of Norse raiders. Torn between two bloodlines, she must prove herself worthy of the gods' call. Yet she defies them to free her Chief from her Norvegr father's clutches. Will the Dreadlord turn her to support his vision to rule over her Gaels?

Lia Dàn (Lia Dawn) – Stone of Destiny

The Dark Goddess, Badb Catha, commands Breanna to seek out Lia Dàn, the Stone of Destiny, in the realm of Tír na nÓg, the land of the Fairie, leading Breanna into a more profound truth. With the gods manipulating her fate, she must cast a vision for Erin's future—one where her father had never existed. And what of her fate? Sacrifices must be made!

Ćrói Dàn (Kree Dawn) – Heart of Destiny

Claimed once more by the Ćrói Dàn, the Heart of Destiny, Breanna must learn to walk her Emerald Isle's Cycle of Time and transform herself into the Tuatha Goddess of Time. Only by becoming more than mortal can she hope to alter the mighty river of Roman history, protecting her people from conquest, a gruesome fate, and the rise of new faiths that would be the end of the Tuatha De Danann!

Laoch Dàn (Laykh Dawn) – Warriors of Destiny (expected in H1/2026)

Now forged as more than just a leader, Breanna gathers her Warriors of Destiny—those marked by fate, magic, and sacrifice—to defend Erin across time. Together, they battle mythic threats and mortal powers who seek to rewrite the Emerald Isle's destiny. A time when Breanna and her Laoch Dàn must ensure no one ever rules over her Gaels and fellow Celts. Will it be enough to shape a new destiny?

Daoine Dàn (Dee-nuh Dawn) – Immortals of Destiny (expected in H2/2026)

Having dealt Rome a severe setback in past centuries with their attempt to conquer Pretannia and Erin, Breanna now turns her attention to the future, where her Immortals of Destiny, the Daoine Dàn, endeavor to keep the worst atrocities that many horrible rulers will inflict on humanity from taking place. Breanna must lead them not just in battles, but across time itself, to rewrite the past and preserve a future where the Gaels rise instead of fall. Yet can she keep their immortal children from going rogue and changing the future without her centuries of experience altering the mighty river of time?

Who It's For

- Readers who enjoy myth-rooted, time-touched epics with authentic Gaelic texture (upper YA+).
- Comparable tones: the time-weave of Outlander, the mythic lens of The Mists of Avalon, and the politics-meets-monsters tension of The Witcher.

Metadata Roll-Up

Series Tagline (≤120 chars)

A myth-rooted epic of fate, clan, and the price of power in 5th-century Erin.

Author Bio (≤50 words)

James Raquepau writes epic, Gaelic-rooted fantasy grounded in authentic myth and history—kinetic battles, high stakes, and a warrior-poet heroine whose choices echo across time.

Series Description (≈550 chars)

Across a myth-steeped 5th-century Erin, Breanna Ban Morna—born of Norse and Gael—answers the Tuatha Dé Danann's call to defend her people. From Lann Dàn's mythos, to the conjured geas she must destroy her Norse father, to Lia Dàn's otherworldly access to the Cycle of Time. Last comes Croí Dàn, a goddess created by Danu and cast into a heart-shaped ruby. As Breanna reckons with time itself, Destiny Cycle blends authentic Gaelic texture, Druidic Elemental Magic, and clan loyalty into a sweeping saga about fate, sacrifice, and the price of power.

Note on Links & Consistency

URLs embedded; diacritics standardized (Tír na nÓg; Tuatha Dé Danann; Croí Dàn). Use em dashes (—) and parallel bullet grammar.