

PAPER SCISSORS ROCK

Cheer Squad

Paper Scissors Rock Cheer Squad

Instructions

Objective:

It is a fun and energetic group game combining classic paper, scissors, and rock with a unique twist of forming "cheer trains." The goal is to be the last player standing, becoming the "train conductor" with the most followers.

Players:

Suitable for any number of participants, ideal for large groups.

Materials:

No materials are needed, just enough space for players to move around and form trains.

Setup:

Explain the rules of paper, scissors, rock if participants are unfamiliar. Ensure participants have enough room to move freely and form cheer trains.

Gameplay:

- Challenges: Participants roam around and challenge each other to a game of paper, scissors, rock.
- Forming Trains: The losing player of each challenge places their hands on the winner's shoulders, following them around like a train carriage.

- Cheering: The followers (train carriages) chant the name of their leader (the front of the train) as loudly as possible, creating a cheering train.
 - Objective: The game continues until only one player is left without a train behind them, making them the "train conductor."
 - Victory Lap: The winning player, as the "train conductor," leads a celebratory lap around the area with their cheering train following.

Winning the Game:

The last player left without a train behind them is the winner and becomes the "train conductor."

Variations for Different Settings:

- Children's Edition: Incorporate fun and silly chants or actions for the trains.
 - Corporate Edition: Use this game as a team-building exercise to boost energy and morale.
 - Outdoor Edition: Adapt the game for larger spaces, allowing for more movement and larger trains.

Additional Notes:

- This game is an excellent icebreaker for participants of all ages, ideal for starting sessions with high energy and excitement.
 - It encourages interaction, laughter, and teamwork in a light-hearted and enjoyable way.
