

Qubit Underwriting Partners with RedotPay to Provide Insurance Protection for Global Web3 Payment Infrastructure

Hong Kong – Qubit Underwriting, a leading specialist digital asset underwriter, and RedotPay, a global stablecoin-based payment fintech, today announced a strategic partnership to strengthen RedotPay's corporate risk management framework. Under the partnership, Qubit Underwriting will provide tailored insurance coverage to RedotPay as it scales its international operations.

As stablecoins and blockchain technology become integrated into mainstream global payments, robust risk management has become essential to operational resilience. The partnership with Qubit Underwriting gives RedotPay institutional-grade insurance backing as it expands its merchant payment network internationally.

"Web3 payment platforms cannot scale globally without risk management that matches their technical ambition," said Helen Ye, Chief Executive Officer of Qubit Underwriting. "RedotPay has built a fast, scalable bridge between digital assets and real-world commerce. Our underwriting gives them the institutional foundation to continue to grow with confidence."

"Resilience and compliance have always been central to our strategy," said Jonathan Chan, Head of Partnerships and Co-Founder of RedotPay. "This partnership strengthens our risk framework as we enter new markets. Having comprehensive corporate protection in place ensures we can drive the future of digital payments with stability and trust."

The partnership reflects a maturing market in which digital payment providers are adopting established financial services risk practices, ensuring that corporate infrastructure and balance sheets are protected by specialized institutional insurance.

About Qubit Underwriting

Qubit Underwriting is a premier specialty insurance underwriter and the only Lloyd's coverholder in Asia Pacific authorised to underwrite digital asset insurance. The firm provides tailored insurance solutions designed to protect the evolving digital asset ecosystem. For more information, visit www.qubituw.com.

About RedotPay

RedotPay is a global stablecoin-based payment fintech that integrates blockchain solutions with traditional banking and finance infrastructures. Our intuitive platform empowers millions around the world to spend and send digital assets, ensuring faster, more accessible and inclusive financial services. RedotPay advances financial inclusion for the unbanked and supports crypto enthusiasts, driving global adoption of secure and flexible stablecoin-powered financial solutions to bring crypto to real life. For more information, visit www.redotpay.com.

For media inquiries, please contact: press@redotpay.com