

REGENTTM doors were then developed to fill the need for a superior insulating door. Working with contractors, design professionals, and building owners, we identified target performance criteria for cold storage doors and developed a door that met those criteria. In 1984, we began manufacturing and selling REGENTTM cold storage doors. We cover all the bases for all your cold storage door needs. If you have unique requirements and conditions for a Specialty Door, reach out and we will manufacture it for you.
