Bonnie Lola, in their Sunday best

About

Indianapolis alt-rock band Bonnie Lola blend hard rock riffs, funk delivery, and new-wave instrumentation, swinging between sprawling psychedelic journeys and punchy, catchy hooks.

On stage they appear as two wholesome grandmothers: sun hats, oversized glasses, grey wigs. Then the music hits.

New songs are still cooking in the kitchen. 1994, Mirrors, Professional Loser, and How to Steal a Golf Cart are being played live ahead of recording.

For fans of Foals, Cage the Elephant, Nirvana, The Cure, and Talking Heads.
