Dear worker,

Do you have any questions about your rights and benefits at work?

Do you feel unjustly treated at work?

Are you encountering interpersonal problems, would you like support and help?

Do you need someone to listen and give reassurance?

Our free, confidential worker helpline is here to help you.

4001-583580

We are here to listen patiently and help find a solution to your problems.

Listening Supporting Helping Caring

You can also contact the local labour bureau at 12333 to find out more about your legal rights.

The Worker Helpline is run by the Ethical Supply Chain to offer free support to workers and promote better workplace relations.
