Helping the Needy Recover from Natural Disasters in Madagascar

From our Biglife friends regarding the devastation glimpsed in the picture above: “Our prayers are needed for Madagascar, which was hit by a cyclone [southern hemispheric hurricane] twice within the past two weeks. The eastern portion of the country has been devastated. Pray for provision for those impacted, lives to be sustained, strength for our family members who are ministering to those around them, and comfort for those who have lost loved ones. Pray for this time of crisis to open more hearts to the Gospel.”

Galatians 2: 10.

East-West Church Planting Goal

Our ministry partners at East-West have asked for prayer for their church planting efforts as they hope to plant 23,000 new churches by the end of 2026.

Romans 15: 20-21.

Inspired by the Lord’s Purpose for our Lives

Click the link below to see a short video of Allan, a young deaf man from Costa Rica. Understanding the Gospel in his heart language has helped Allan to change his life and discover his purpose. He now serves as a leader with our ministry partner, DOOR International, helping to make disciples and to plant churches.

2 Timothy 1: 6-10.

Give Thanks for New Disciples Among Iranian Refugees

Our friends at e3 Partners report that some Iranian refugees in an unnamed country have become Christ followers. Pray for these and other new Iranian believers, both inside and outside their homeland, which is in a political crisis following the government’s massacre of thousands of its citizens and is on the verge of war as of late February.

1 Timothy 2: 1-7.

“The Life-Changing Journey of Suresh”

Enjoy this “Story of Transformation” from our ministry partners at New Generations

“In the village of Mahananda, where the Ganges runs through farmland and daily life follows familiar rhythms, lived a man named Suresh Yadav*. He was steady and hardworking, deeply connected to his community and shaped by long-held traditions. His life looked much like those around him, predictable and routine.*

“During a particularly difficult season, Suresh met Sunil Yadav. Sunil stood out for his kindness and positive spirit. He noticed that Suresh was struggling and began stopping by more often. Sometimes he helped fix a broken fence. Other times he shared food from his own harvest. Often, he simply listened. These small, consistent acts of care made an impression on Suresh.*

“One evening, as the sun set behind the palm trees, Sunil invited Suresh to sit with him under a banyan tree. As they talked, Sunil shared his own story and spoke about the strength he had found in the teachings of Jesus. He talked about forgiveness, love, and hope. These conversations connected deeply with Suresh’s growing questions about purpose and meaning.

“As their time together continued, Suresh became curious. He began reading, asking questions, and listening to others who had experienced similar changes. Over time, those conversations led to something deeper. Suresh noticed a growing sense of peace and direction in his life.

“As he embraced the teachings and example of Jesus, real changes followed. He worked through old conflicts, responded to challenges with renewed hope, and extended kindness even to those who had hurt him in the past. His family noticed the difference. His neighbors noticed too, and people began asking what had changed.

“Grateful for what he had experienced, Suresh felt compelled to share it. He began visiting nearby villages and shared his story of the hope he had found. The man who once listened quietly was now speaking with confidence and humility.

“What began in Mahananda slowly spread throughout the district. Suresh’s local roots and honesty made him a trusted voice, while Sunil continued to walk closely alongside those exploring faith for the first time. Whether meeting under neem trees, gathering in simple homes, or walking dusty roads together, their conversations reached far beyond their own village.

“Today, Suresh continues working with Sunil to support and grow this movement. Together, they offer hope and belonging to people searching for deeper purpose. Through their lives, God’s message of love, forgiveness, and community continues to spread, reaching new villages and new hearts with each step forward.”
