Brian’s travels to Thailand and Cambodia kicks off on July 7. We plan to share more details soon about how the Lord answered prayers during and through those trips and events. Please also be in prayer for David and Susan as they move into the new Doulos apartment in Dallas July 5-18.

e3 Prayer Requests

Our friends at e3 Partners ask for prayers for their upcoming trip to help refugees in Greece. Pray for all those who will hear the gospel, that they will come to know the Lord and will share the gospel with their fellow countrymen wherever they might live. And pray for European believers facing more persecution even from Christian clergy reportedly announcing that, “Only this church’s leaders can share the Gospel or baptize anyone who has come to their church.”

Christ Calls a Hitman

From Every Home for Christ, Venezuela

"Antonella heard the bathroom door lock behind Simón. She picked her way across the apartment floor strewn with shattered fragments of things he had thrown during their argument. In her bedroom, she began to pray. Where else could she turn?"

“Like many young people in Venezuela, Antonella had gone to church as a child. But she left all that behind when she fell in love with Simón, a hitman.

“Simón’s dangerous work drew Antonella into a world of violence and fear. Dread that one day Simón would be killed weighed heavy on her, and her anxiety increased after their first child was born.

Alone after a heated argument with Simón, Antonella prayed to the God she remembered from her childhood but didn’t truly know.

“I was terrified,” Antonella writes. ‘I thought Simón was going to harm himself. I broke down and cried until midnight. Then, the peace of God came into my heart. In that moment, I began to experience God’s presence in my life, making me free.’

“Antonella didn’t know that God was already at work in Simón’s life, too. A local believer had begun sharing about the love of Jesus in one of the places Simón and his friends hung out.

“Shortly after, a group of believers trained by Every Home Venezuela visited the hitman’s home.

“As their visitors shared the gospel, ‘something supernatural happened, and Simón and Antonella felt the presence of God,’ shares Juan Carlos, Every Home Venezuela ministry director. In their conversation, truths about the couple’s relationship were revealed that only God could know.

“Like Paul on the road to Damascus, Simón and Antonella experienced a powerful encounter with Jesus, who saw them, knew their hearts, and called them to a new life.

“That night, Simón and Antonella gave their lives to Jesus and began attending a discipleship group using Every Home’s Discovery Method.

“The couple’s lives transformed day by day, and eventually, Antonella said, ‘Simón, we have to decide what we are going to do. Are we going to serve God in the church or the devil in the world?’ Only Jesus could give them true and lasting freedom, but to follow him, they would have to leave Simón’s dangerous livelihood and every part of their old life behind.

“Without hesitation, Simón responded with conviction: ‘We are going to serve God in the church’. So, Simón and Antonella’s little family moved to a new city where they are leaders in the church, ministering to people seeking freedom from crime and violence.”
