

Did you know?

MOST OF SEATTLE'S TREES AREN'T PROTECTED

Unlike most big cities, Seattle has regressive environmental laws that have fueled the loss of 4,500+ trees since the beginning of 2024.

Most people in Seattle enjoy trees, and most people think they're protected. They couldn't be more wrong.

Policies pushed by special interests put our resilience to climate change impacts at risk.

Subscribe to our newsletter to learn more:

treeactionseattle.org#subscribe

