

Continue

Seagull sta 4.0 answers

Seagull sta 4.0 cbt answers. Seagull sta 4.0 answers pdf. Seagull sta 4.0 answers pdf free download.

Seagull's products and services are now part of Ocean Technologies Group to provide more comprehensive solutions for maritime training and regulatory compliance needs. The information previously on Seagull.no is now available within the Ocean Technologies Group site. You can find STCW courses, Training Solutions, or interactive e-learning modules with over 800 titles that cover compliance and certification needs. As a part of Ocean Technologies Group, we offer interconnected solutions for recruitment, training, assessment, crew management, and vessel management, enabling organizations to meet their goals. The group operates across three areas: operational enablement, Learning Solutions, Crew Management, and Fleet Management software, empowering the people that power world trade. From pre-employment testing to supporting personnel development, we provide tools for building talented teams. Our solutions support crewing professionals and enable them to increase knowledge, grow skills, and develop both on shore and at sea. Transform your business today with the power of e-learning. Seagull Maritime's Roger Ringstad emphasizes how web-based solutions enhance e-learning, assessment, and record management for seafarers, closing knowledge gaps systematically. The STA 4.0 system provides performance evaluations, training records, and profiles that give the industry certainty in developing suitable seafarers. With an updated graphical user interface and network setup capabilities, individual customers can access training results from any location, streamlining their workflow. Additionally, features like Crew Evaluation System (CES), Performance Profiling, Document Manager, and Electronic Bulletin Board enhance communication and record management, allowing for easier promotion processes and assessments. Furthermore, Seagull Maritime is developing a cloud-based interface standard to integrate HR systems, providing flexibility and enhanced support for clients.